

Autism core symptoms	Autism secondary symptoms
All Must to make a diagnosis	Only 2 is enough
Often easily missed by parents	Easily noticed by parents
Parents assume it will pick up with time	Parents want immediate cure in this
This should be the first priority to manage	If you take care of core symptoms, this settles in 2 years
Not easy to manage by behavior or therapy	Easy to manage with behaviour, counseling, OT
Medicines needed to take care of cognition, to develop basic socialization, to hasten the response to therapy	Medicines needed to make child accept the therapy, if child is not cooperating
Often these are characterized by absence or inappropriateness of certain aspect of social communication, conversation and understanding	Often these are repetitive behaviors, continuous activity, movements, acts, pronunciations, age inappropriate low or excess response to various sensory issues
Low Cognition, Processing defects, Apraxia of speech and added possibility of hypotonia related issues is there but missed from DSM 5	Hyperactivity often mistaken as ADHD is missed in DSM5, Constipation an important secondary symptom due to visceroreception is missed in DSM 5
Cognition issues make child behave rigid	Sensory secondary issues make child behave chaotic.
Sensory issue: No Sense of central cognitive senses of interpretation, understanding, logic and thinking.	Sensory issue: Peripheral sensory disintegration and or disintegration of various sensations makes give weird responses to any stimulus, de-sensitisation, dissociation from cognition makes it appear similar to a denervation response in a muscle.
